
Idea: Using CCCApply for noncredit courses and communities

1 message

California Community College Staff and Faculty <noreply.ccctc@getsatisfaction.com>

Thu, Jul 7, 2016 at 2:32 PM

California Community College Staff and Faculty

David Q (Employee) just shared this idea in California Community College Staff and Faculty \(CCCApply\):

Using CCCApply for noncredit courses and communities

Mia McClellan, Dean of Instruction Support Services, Continuing Ed, Southwestern College, asks: Can we have an application form that is consistent with the needs of non-credit and limited-english populations?

David adds: What are the minimum required fields for admission of a non-credit student?

Reducing the barrier to entry for non-credit students and automating non-credit paper processes at the colleges would be very helpful.

What are non-credit implications for applying to online courses and doing education plans?

REPLY

View conversation in the community

Notify me when people reply

This message sent from the California Community College Staff and Faculty community on Get Satisfaction.

To stop receiving notifications about CCCApply, click here. Don't reply directly to this email.

Create a customer community for your company at GetSatisfaction.com.