CaliforniaColleges.edu data for potential pre-population of CCCApply

For students who launch their CCCApply application from CaliforniaColleges.edu, SSID is matched to CCCID, and academic courses and grades within their account are provided to CCCTech Center for inclusion in the conductor workflow that supports AB 705 implementation.

CCGI has prepared this document to explore how data from CaliforniaColleges.edu might prepopulate CCCApply with the dual interests of:

1. reducing application effort for students and
2. feeding more accurate data to the colleges

Summary

The following sections of the application either can be, or could be (future state) pre-populated by information from students' accounts on CaliforniaColleges.edu:

Enrollment Information: No current state opportunity for pre-population, though future state, education goal and major could be pre-populated.
Account Information: Name and Date of Birth could be pre-populated
Education: College and High School enrollment status could be pre-populated, as well as some high school transcript information.

The following sections cannot be pre-populated by information from students' accounts on CaliforniaColleges.edu

Citizenship/Military: No opportunity for pre-population.
Residency: No opportunity for pre-population.
Needs and Interests: No opportunity for pre-population.
Demographic Information: No opportunity for pre-population. While data elements are similar, the definition and allowable field values are not identical.

Enrollment Information

Term Applying For

Fall 2014 (08/18/2014 to 01/01/2020)

Educational Goal

Obtain an associate degree and transfer to a 4-year institution

Intended Major or Program of Study

Apprenticeship Programs

Term: Multiple terms are available to choose from, and only the student will know which is appropriate.

Educational Goal: Assuming that these values will remain constant through redesign, specification of a goal using these values could be integrated into CaliforniaColleges.edu and could be included in the 12th grade lesson plan entitled Planning for Community College Bound Students.

Intended Major: These majors are college specific and significant changes in the organizations of majors are underway as part of Guided Pathways. CaliforniaColleges.edu uses the COCI data set to inform majors available at each campus. For students who have indicated their major of interest, such information could theoretically port over as part of their application.
